

HANNAH LAINÉ

ALT R&B/INDIE-SOUL | GRAND RAPIDS, MI

Hannah Laine is a Grand Rapids-based singer, songwriter, pianist, and loop artist whose music blends soul, jazz, and experimental soundscapes into intimate, emotionally resonant performances. Known for her warm tone, layered harmonies, and intuitive live looping, she creates immersive sets that feel both spontaneous and intentional.

Her debut EP Cut Your Strings (2017) introduced her as a solo artist rooted in vulnerability and emotional clarity. Her latest release, Unfolding (2025), expands her sound into lush, atmospheric compositions exploring self-discovery and empowerment.

Hannah is also a founding member of the future-soul collective Earth Radio, a critically recognized, genre-defying band shaping Michigan's contemporary music scene through its fusion of soul, jazz, funk, and experimental elements.

Through her solo work and with Earth Radio, Hannah has performed throughout Michigan and the Midwest, sharing stages with artists including The Crane Wives, O.A.R., Brandon Coleman, The Accidentals, and Joe Hertler & The Rainbow Seekers. Her performances invite listeners into a world where vulnerability becomes strength and sound becomes connection.
